Irwin To Sell Beach Property

Deal Pending By Which Valuable Realty Will Go To Other Holders

Previous to his departure for the Coast, Wm. G. Irwin will probably close one of the most important deals in beach property that has been carried through in many years. Arrangements are reported to be all but complete whereby Mr. Irwin will dispose of his valuable beach property at a figure that will approach a total of $150,000. The Henry Waterhouse Trust Company, through which it is understood the deal is being carried out, would give no authorized statement in connection with the matter. It was generally reported on the street yesterday afternoon that G. P. Castle and J. A. McCandless were among the purchasers of the property, but the details of the transaction can not be confirmed. It has been known for some time that Mr. Irwin wished to dispose of his splendid property along the beach, and a number of Honolulu people will take advantage of the opportunity to secure beach homes.

MILLIONAIRES, MUSICIANS AND MONKEYS ARE IN TRANSIT FROM ANTIPODES

With multimillionaires, occupying luxurious suites, musicians, and vaudeville talent adding their mite to the gaiety of the second cabin, and a medley of noises emanating from a company of trained dogs and monkeys, the Canadian-Australian liner Makura has proved an interesting ship and a welcome visitor to the port today.

Captain J. Gibbs brought the fine liner off the quarantine before 6 o'clock this morning. The Federal officers boarded the vessel and rounded up the large number of sleepy passengers, routing a number from an extended enjoyment of their morning bath. It was a heartless mandate that issued from the delegation of quarantine officers who must feel the traveling pulse or a visitor is permitted to step ashore and enjoy the glories to be found on inspection in these Isles of the Blest.

With the completion of baaty toilets, followed the turning of the ship, and she steamed majestically through the channel and to her berth at Alakea wharf.

The little but noisy band of canines and simians that constitute the working squad, but are not included in the salary list, of a circus yelled and screeched a welcome to those who lined the wharf.

The Makura sailed from Sydney on July 4, arrived at Brisbane the morning of the 6th, and after leaving that port did not see land until Suva was sighted, at an early hour on July 11.

The voyage was characterized by moderate to light and variable winds and fine weather throughout. Thirty-six passengers leave the vessel at this port. They include wealthy tourists, vaudeville performers and others.

The cargo for Honolulu includes 2940 sacks sulphate of ammonia, 555 sacks dried blood, 120 cases canned meats, 50 cases whiskey, 330 cases Geneva, 181 sacks maize, 14 sacks pollard, 509 carcasses frozen mutton, 15 carcasses frozen lamb, 50 cases jam and 4 sacks coconuts. For Fanning Island there are 270 packages merchandise.

BULLETIN PARTY STARTS TOUR ON WILHELMINA

Seven members of the Bulletin California-Yosemite party sail tomorrow for San Francisco and the Yosemite on the steamship Wilhelmina.

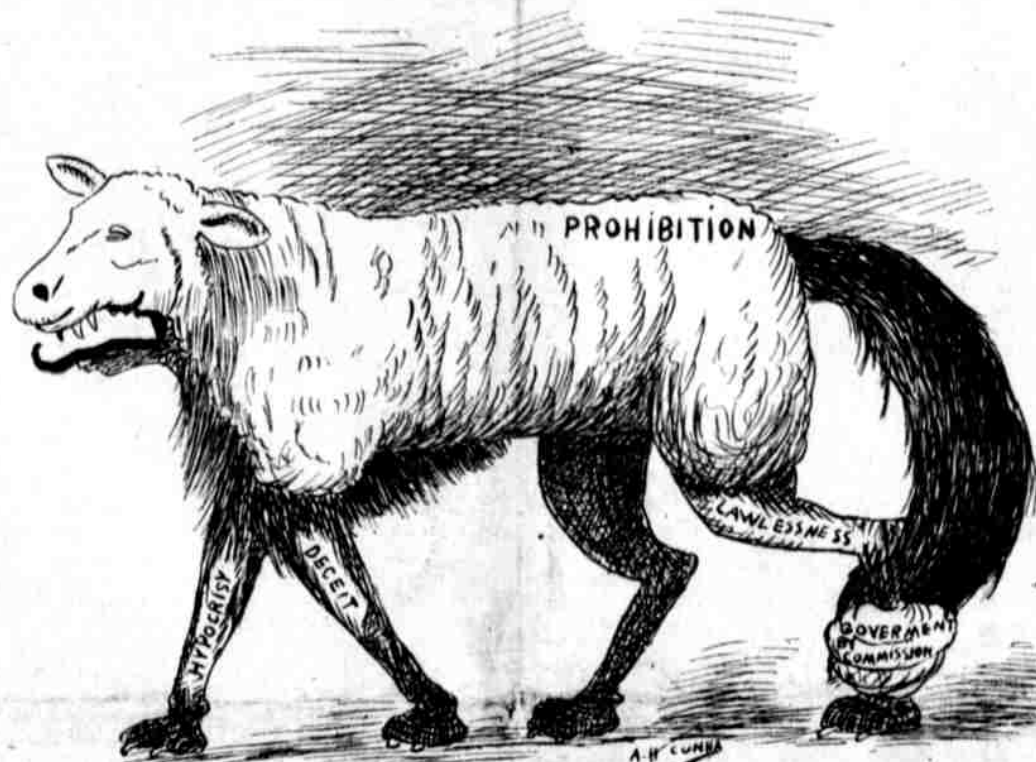

The young women have been busy the past two weeks getting ready for the trip that gives every promise of being a most happy one for all of them. Mrs. Beggs, the chaperone, is the only member of the party who has ever been away from her island home before. She has toured the Yosemite and knows the way. The others were all born in the islands, and their previous travels have been confined to inter-island trips.

On arrival in San Francisco the young ladies will go to the Hotel Manx that is rapidly becoming the favorite headquarters for island people. Manager Larm makes a specialty of looking after Hawaii folk and he will see that the Bulletin party is well cared for in every respect.

The time for making the Yosemite trip will be decided after arriving in San Francisco. Miss Mary McCabe will join them and the whole party will travel together in seeing the magnificent scenery of California's most beautiful valley.

The return trip will be made on the Wilhelmina, arriving here the early part of September, although some of the party may decide to remain in the city longer and visit with friends.

BREWERY GOES UP AND OLAA DOWN

Hawaiian Commercial advancing and Oahu sagging were the features of the stock market this forenoon. Hawaiian Commercial bids fair to be selling at 41 soon if it keeps up the pace and the expectations of extras are not dashed to the ground. There has been a very general selling of Oahu, and the price dropped to 32.25. Brewery took a new lease of life, and jumped to 19 on the sale of twenty shares. Oahu has dropped back to 3.875, and McBryde remains firm at 6. These cheap stocks have taken a few days of quiet so far as advance is concerned, but there seems no great desire to sell at the lower figures.

Beckley Attacks Thurston Policy

Prohibition Leader Declares Advertiser Owner Is Not Sincere In Support

A sensational attack upon the honesty of purpose inspiring Lorrin A. Thurston, proprietor of the Advertiser, was delivered at the prohibition meeting last night at Ala Park by Fred Beckley, the Hawaiian leader of the prohibition propaganda.

In supporting the platform of the prohibition league, Beckley denied that Thurston wanted prohibition for the Territory but has come forward to advocate it because he feels sure that the advocacy of the Advertiser for the cause will insure its defeat, thereby placing in the hands of the supporters of Government by Commission a weapon which Beckley contended might be of some assistance to them in presenting a case as to why Hawaii should be robbed of its independence as an American community and a commission form of Government instituted.

Beckley is the acknowledged leader of the few Hawaiian advocates of this remarkable explanation of Thurston's attitude—remarkable primarily because of the statement that the defeat of prohibition would tend toward the establishment of a commission form of government in Hawaii.

Beckley's speech was aimed to show that Thurston is not a true prohibitionist and in that way bring the Hawaiians back to the fold who might be led away from the support of prohibition because Thurston is the leader of the Territory and the author of the platform upon which the people vote next Tuesday.

The meeting last night was a failure, there being about four hundred persons present. A number of pictures of intoxicated persons were thrown upon the screen but Liliha, who was interpreting for Mr. Ryder, observed that the pictures were of haoles on the mainland and had nothing to do with the Hawaiians. This remark struck the crowd as being distinctly humorous and Ryder was considerably surprised at the laughter, there being nothing particularly funny in the "rum and ruin" picture that was then upon the screen.

ADMIRAL BECKLEY'S WILL FILED AND THE ESTATE IS VALUED AT OVER $150,000

More than $150,000 is the value of the estate left by George C. Beckley, whose will was filed late yesterday, and the income from the whole amount goes to the widow as long as she lives.

This morning Judge Robinson appointed Mrs. Mary C. Beckley temporary administratrix until the will could be heard for probate and its provisions carried out in reference to those who will have charge of the estate. She will be allowed $200 monthly until such time as final action is taken by the court.

The will of Admiral Beckley was made on June 4 of this year just a few days before he sailed for the coast on the last trip he took alive, and by its provisions the widow gets the entire income as long as she lives.

Mary C. Beckley, Henry P. Beckley and Bruce Cartwright, Sr., are named as administratrix, administrator and trustee, and in case of death of either or their inability to perform the duties devolving upon them the remaining two may elect another with the consent of Miss Juanita Beckley.

Under the provisions of the will the widow receives all jewelry, household effects, silver and other effects of the deceased, the remaining property, real and personal, going to the trustees under the condition that as long as she lives the widow is to have the income from the entire estate.

Upon her death one-third of the principal of the estate goes to Henry P. Beckley and one-third to George C. Beckley, they to have this amount in full.

To the daughter, Juanita, however, the remaining third comes under conditions different. The income from

HUMAUMA IS FLOATED AND WORK BEGINS

F. Klamp, secretary and treasurer, and F. N. Payne, director, of the Humauuma Oil Company of California, that has been financed in the islands by Mr. Payne, leave in the Wilhelmina tomorrow for San Francisco, and later for the oil field in the Elkhorn Valley.

This proposition is one of the exclusively Hawaiian ventures in the famous oil district of California, and great things are expected of it by those who have gone into the matter thoroughly. The company has patented land, and the officers and directors of the company are men who have invested large amounts of
